

Title of the course: Environmental management knowledge	NEPTUN-code: RKWOG1EBNE	Weekly classes: lecture+practical work+lab work 1+1+0	Credit: 3 Exam type: e
Course leader: Miklós Kovács, Dr.	Position: master teacher	Required preliminary knowledge (with Neptun code): -
Curriculum:
The course's objectives are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– The history of environmental management.</li> <li>– The environment in the system of public administration.</li> <li>– Environmental protection, nature conservation, water management, institutional systems, interfaces, management structure.</li> <li>– Environmental responsibilities of local governments.</li> <li>– Environmental protection system in the Constitution.</li> <li>– The basic concepts and structure of environmental law, and the associated lower-level legislation.</li> <li>– Law principles of the environment protection.</li> <li>– Environmental official duties, and powers assigned to them.</li> <li>– Conditions and the administrative authorization for the use of the environment.</li> <li>– The system of responsibility in environmental protection.</li> <li>– The official administrative fees of environmental conversation and protection.</li> </ul>
Professional competencies:
Knowledge of the concepts and tools of economics and environmental economics, project and environment management in environment protection.  Able to perform public administrative and authority tasks related to environment protection after getting acquainted with the duty assigned to them.  Undertaking and authentically representing the social role of environment protection, its basic relationship with the world.  Collaboration with civil organizations engaged in environment protection, but willing to argue in order to develop optimal solutions.  Cooperation with qualified experts from other special areas (primarily economic and legal) in the course of completing professional tasks.  Monitoring regulatory, technical, technological, and administrative changes related to the special field and enforcing them in their professional work.
Literature:
Khi V. Thai, Jerrel D. Cogburn: Handbook of Globalization and the Environment – Public Administration and Policy, CRC Press Taylor &amp; Francis Group
James L. Perry, Robert K. Christensen: Handbook of Public Administration, 3rd Edition  ISBN: 978-1-118-77555-4			